

Course 1 (image)

SP7320 Autism Spectrum Disorder and Verbal Behavior

Course Type: Online (Developmental Stages: Kindergarten, Elementary)

Date: 08-10-2022 to 29-10-2022 (Sat) Time: 14:00 - 17:00 (4 sessions)

Course Prerequisite: None Medium of Instruction: Cantonese

TUITION FEE: HK$2,000 + ♦ Individual rate - HK$2,000

♦ Group rate - Five or more applications, HK$1,700 per person

APPLY COURSE ONLINE + (Click Here) fill personal info, select courses, application summary, payment online

ENQUIRY: + (Email) access@hk-access.org (Phone) (+852) 9299-2838

Course Description

Autism Spectrum Disorder is a common developmental disorder that affects both behavior and communication. The course provided real and practical skills for teachers, parents, family caregivers to employ when working with child with ASD. The course allows the participants to reduce frustration by teaching their child that their words are connected to own purpose.

Course Objectives

Upon completion of this course, the participant will be able to:

1. Identify types of words: requests (mand), commenting (tact), responses (intraverbal), and repeated words (echoic).that help to expand child verbal language reactions.
2. Describe an example of how to help the child transform his/her utterances into real words.
3. Identify why words are used and how they are useful in making requests and relaying ideas.

Target Audience: Teachers, Parents, Family Caregivers, or People interested in this topic

Closing Date for Application: 01-10-2022

Course Instructor

(instructor photo)

Professor TSANG, (Qualification)

Email: access@hk-access.org

Phone: (+852) 9299-2838

For Course Application, please visit: ACCESS website